LONG MAY THEY REIGN—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stieffel, king and queen of the St. Joseph Academy Carnival Ball.

King Wallace Bourgeois led the Krewe of Chicapoula parade Tuesday afternoon.

The parade which started at Bay High School wound its way up Carroll Avenue to Beach Boulevard then South to Main St. and to the Courthouse where the king paused to toast his queen, Clarine Hayward.

The Krewe continued its route on Main Street to Necaise Avenue south to Railroad Avenue then to Union and Second St. and to Ulman Avenue. The captain and dukes in colorful Chinese costumes preceded the king's float.

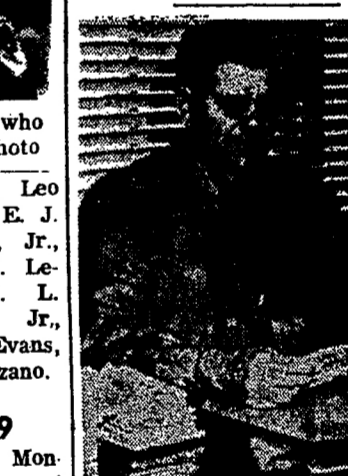

Participating in the parade were Bay St. Louis and Waveland city officials, County officials, National Guard Drill Unit, Ladies Auxiliary Hancock County General Hospital, Jaycees, Hancock County Riding Club, headed by Miss Judy Tallac. The Hancock County Sheriff Junior Posse led by Miss Betty Younger, American Legion Auxiliary, a large number of horsemen, cyclists and Bay High Band and a number of others.

Following the parade the 13th annual ball was staged in the Bay High Auditorium, where the King and Queen and the Court were presented by the captain of the Krewe, Michael Cowan. The theme of the ball was "The Nightingale", a Chinese Fairy Tale.

The king was attired in a white satin suit fashioned with Chinese Tunic trimmed with sequins. The queen's white tulle bouffant gown was complemented by an emerald green velvet mantle embellished in a Nightingale embroidered in sequins, and she carried yellow roses.

The maids, Martha Wheeler, Darnell Russell, Dorothy Estapa, Mildred Ling, Linda Wimble, Barbara Noonan, Margie Byrd, Kathy Martin, Jane Allison, Cynthia Poyadon, Janice Lee and Madeline Manning, wore pastel floor length dresses and carried fans trimmed with flowers.

Hancock Bank To Hold Open House Saturday

Mr. Leo W. Seal, President, Hancock Bank, Gulfport, Miss., announced that the new and expanded main office in Gulfport is complete and formal dedication will be made on Saturday, March 9th. Mr. Seal stated that the bank will be open from 10 a. m. to 7 p. m. on this date and that customers and the general public are invited to visit and tour the new banking quarters.

In a construction principle rather unique on the Gulf Coast, the basement slab is composed of 355 cubic yards of concrete aggregate which composes the almost 3,000 square feet of usable basement floor space. This sub-floor will actually serve as a floating foundation to support an eventual eight story building.

The light-weight upper structure has on two sides porcelain enamel panels and aluminum window frames which are set into steel framework. Known as a curtain-wall construction, this design is relatively new to our coastal area.

There were many problems in preparing the excavation for the huge foundation slab. First test borings had to be made to determine if a proper sand strata existed as a basis for the basement slab. A favorable strata of 50 feet of dense white sand was found, which would support the required 5,000 pounds per square foot of building weight. In order to dig an excavation bordered by buildings on two sides, an alley and a street on the other sides, it was necessary to drive 20-foot pilings to prevent ground adjacent to the excavation from falling in. The size of the excavation was fifty by seventy-five and thirteen and one-half feet deep. These pilings, though they have no structural value in the building were used as extension forms for the concrete basement walls.

Another problem was that of our high water table. In order to meet this problem a well-point system was used which consisted of 20-foot lengths of pipe screened at one end, inserted into the ground. The water table was then lowered by pumping out water through the inserted pipe. The pipes were removed after the concrete slab was laid. This brings to mind a fact that the concrete slab with its extremely heavy weight serves to counteract the upward pressure of hydrostatic pressure from the displaced sand and water.

The completed building covers a land area of 7,500 square feet and the net floor space within the bank is 16,875 square feet. This broken down into the basement having 2842 square feet, the main floor 6,071 square feet on the second floor 4,600 square feet, the 3rd floor has 3,360 square feet.

The ground was broken by Mr. Seal on April 16th; the architect was W. T. Guild, Jr.; the contractor was J. C. McClendon.

The Hancock Bank was established in 1899 in Bay St. Louis, with a capitalization of $10,000 and deposits the day it opened of $8,397.41—but it was a solid, substantial bank founded and operated ever since on the fundamentals of stability, personal integrity and public service. How well it was established has been borne out by the fact that this bank has survived four distinct national periods of financial panic—1907, 1914, 1921 and 1929—the last of which wiped out three Coast banks. During these 36 years Hancock Bank has grown to a 30 million dollar institution.

In reviewing its activities during these intervening years since the bank opened for business, Mr. Seal stated that it was actually a resume of the Coast's steady march from almost national anonymity to its present recognized position as one of the brightest spots on the business map of the U. S. and one of the fastest growing areas in the deep South.

Mr. Seal stated that Hancock Bank now serves six growing communities on the Coast; Bay St. Louis, Gulfport, Pass Christian, Long Beach, Mississippi City and Hattiesburg, and over the years has been motivated to expand in order to serve, and to serve well, a growing section.

In all sixty years of existence the Hancock Bank has had only two presidents. Bay St. Louis born Leo W. Seal, Sr., has been president for the last 27 years.

LADIES' AUXILIARY OF YACHT CLUB TO MEET

WAVELAND WANDERINGS

by GEORGETTE B. HALL

Mardi Gras in New Orleans and the local parade and ball in the Bay High Gym on Tuesday drew many hundreds to festivities planned for Shrove Tuesday. It is impossible to mention the many who went to New Orleans on various nights and days to enjoy the gaiety and the splendor of this year's balls and numerous parades. It is hoped that wherever you spent the holiday, you had a good time. Just a note to those who are looking to next year's Mardi Gras—the date is February 14. Maybe you can dress as a Valentine.

Waveland residents shared most of the limelight in last week's festivities.

Their Royal Highnesses, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stieffel, of Waveland, reigned beautifully and graciously over the annual St. Joseph Academy Carnival ball Friday night. Two youngsters Wallace Bourgeois, Jr., and Clarine Hayward, were indeed monarchs over all they surveyed in Tuesday's Court of Chicopoula. Then to cap the climax, the float, "Cinderella," entered in the local parade by the Waveland Center won first prize. Congratulations, Waveland!

The school entered two floats based on the Cinderella theme. Those students on the first float were Susan Lott as Cinderella, and David Compretta as the Prince. In addition to Susan and David, the following children, dressed in lovely costumes, rode on the float: Rod Villere, Margie Fautetta, Jackie Ferrell, Judy Hayward, Linda Purdie, Orval Ferrell, Eugene Straton, Jenny Toomey, Charles Johnson, Vickie Lankford, Kay Guffy, and Steve Fautetta.

On the second float were Brenda Necaise, Emmett White, Pat Guffy, Frank Wheat, David Lehmann, and Martha Grigsby.

"The Nightingale," theme of the Krewe of Chicopoula's Ball, was a pageant of color. Waveland was again well represented. Noticed in the line of dukes and maids were several children from our town. Among the dukes were Ronald Ferrell and Thomas Mayfield; among the maids, we saw Barbara Noonan and Kathy Martin.

Pretty little Susan Hayward was a maid to the queen, her own lovely sister, Diane Dickson took part in the entertainment of the court. There were so many activities going on that it is impossible to name everyone who took part in Tuesday's fun. If this column has omitted any names please let us know.

Mrs. B. J. Lister, owner of the Pirate House and a horse owner and lover, presented trophies this year to riders receiving the critical acclaim of the judges. She made the presentation in person—a very nice gesture by a lovely lady.

Another party that drew attention was the Masquerade Party sponsored Tuesday by the Holy Name Society in the Parish Hall in Waveland. All who attended had a wonderful time. Prizes were awarded to maskers, the first prize going to Charlotte Glass, second to Nancy Lozano.

and third prizes, to Jackie Seizeneau and Doris Davis.

Donations for the Heart Fund were solicited last Sunday by seniors and Beta Club members of Bay High School. The group canvassed the town of Bay St. Louis and collected approximately $200.00. Students who live in Waveland and helped put the drive over are Lynne Hall, who served as over-all chairman, Paula Crider, James Mayfield, Delfel Quandt, and Ulrike Winkelmann. Congratulations to all of these young people for their fine spirit of cooperation and a job well done.

Good news has been received regarding the condition of Mr. Pete Porter of Bay St. Louis. Those of us who have been concerned about his health are happy to know that he underwent major surgery last week and is reported to be doing nicely. His many friends send him their best wishes for continued recovery.

It's good to see Mayor John Seaford of Bay St. Louis up and about again. The Mayor is recuperating from recent surgery also.

Mrs. Alfred Bourgeois is spending some time in her home on Waveland Avenue.

Mr. Sandy McDonald of New Orleans was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Davis of Farrar Lane.

About two weeks ago a car bearing a Louisiana license stopped near the Waveland Depot and let three dogs out, not caring what happened to them. Some of the kind people in that vicinity have put food out for these animals. According to reports, the dogs seem friendly and apparently were cared for until they were let loose in Waveland. If anyone sees one of these poor, forsaken animals, please "have a heart" and make a home for it. You won't be sorry. There is no word for the ones who abandoned these animals. It would have been better never to have kept the pups at all. Man's most faithful friend deserves a better end than this.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Morel were called to New Orleans Sunday day due to the critical condition of Mr. Morel's father, Mr. Sidney Morel. The Morels reached his bedside shortly before he died. Sympathy is extended to relatives and friends through this column.

DAIRY OUTPUT REGISTERS BIG GAINS

Back in 1910, Mississippi's production of marketed milk was only about 50,000 pounds. In 1930, this production had grown to one billion pounds and over 300 million pounds of Grade A milk were exported from Miss. The first ice cream, fluid milk, and butter plants opened about half a century ago in our large cities. Since that time, there has been a change to large scale milk processing and mass production of evaporated milk, cheese and milk powder. This spells progress in anybody's language.

To Speak At MEC State Chamber Meeting

MR. MOORE

MISS MEAD

MR. SALISBURY

ATTEND BALL

Seated in the rail-off section at the Hermes Ball at the Municipal Auditorium Friday night were Mrs. Frank Kiefer and daughter, Miss Laurie Kiefer. They were joined in New Orleans by Mrs. Kiefer's son, Jerry, of L. S. U., and Miss Alice Brassfield of Jackson, Miss., and LSU. Mrs. Kiefer returned home Saturday while Laurie remained for a visit with her grandmother, Mrs. Anne Nachman. She returned Wednesday.

FIELD BURNING IS AN EXPENSIVE PRACTICE

Field burning is an expensive practice according to Area Forester Marion Parker. He added that field burning damages the productivity of the crop and often fire escapes into the woods and damages the productivity of the timber stand.

Field fires limit crop yields. Research has shown that soils need decayed plant residues (organic matter) in order to be fully productive. Dr. William L. Gilles, director of the Delta Experiment Station at Stoneville, states that field fires destroy valuable organic matter which we can not afford to lose.

Fertilizers applied to soils lacking in organic matter are rapidly leached out of the soil by the rainfall. How much of your fertilizer never reaches the crops you are trying to grow, simply because your soil is lacking in organic matter? Would it not be much better to work the plant residues into the soil, thereby adding to its productivity?

Besides improving the soil, this practice protects the adjoining timber from being destroyed or seriously damaged by fire. Since timber and timber processing bring in one-fourth of the total income of all people in Mississippi the woods are well worth protecting.

Today, farmers and other small owners own about two-thirds of the timber land in Mississippi. These lands are producing only a fraction of their potential.

The first step in increasing their productivity is to keep wild fires out.

For full information on your forestry problems, contact Marion Parker area forester with the Mississippi Forestry Commission.

4-H CLUB WEEK TO BE OBSERVED MARCH 5TH-12TH

About one thousand young people in Hancock County will join in observing National 4-H Club Week from March 5-12th. The local youth, 10 to 21 years of age, are among the 2 1/2 million 4-Hers of America who belong to some 93,000 clubs in rural urban and suburban communities.

Among the special 4-H activities planned for this vicinity are: 4-H Club meetings in each club, put up county 4-H Welcome signs, Window Displays and distribute 4-H posters.

Nationally, 4-H Club Week will be highlighted in Washington, D. C., by six previously selected members who will present the annual 4-H "Report to the Nation."

The report will summarize in story and pictures outstanding 4-H accomplishments and current projects. The three girls and three boys while in the Nation's Capital, expect to review the report with President Eisenhower at the White House. They also plan to visit Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, C. M. Ferguson, Administrator of the Federal Extension Service, and various Senators and Members of Congress on Capitol Hill. 4-Hers everywhere will share honors with the 296,000 adult volunteer leaders who guide 4-

MEETING OF WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

The next meeting of the General Hospital Auxiliary will be held Wednesday, March 7, at 2 P. M., at Mrs. Leo Seal, North Agent. All members are invited.

TIME TO CLEAN WHEN PRUNING

Thoroughly clean at the time the plant is pruned. Pick up all the old wood; then spray the surface of the good foliage. Any four pounds of food per hundred of bed and place use less. The foliage worked lightly into digging would injure.
